

Designation of Beneficiary

Your pension funds are a valuable benefit – for you, and potentially, for your heirs.

Use the attached form if you wish to designate a beneficiary of your pension funds should you die before you start receiving retirement benefits. If you make no designation, your funds will be payable to your spouse, if applicable, or to your estate. Beneficiary designations are subject to pension legislation.

Spouses

Under pension laws, there are certain rules surrounding survivor benefits. If you should die before you start receiving retirement income, who will receive your survivor benefits is affected by whether you have a spouse. The definition of “spouse” varies by jurisdiction. See the following page for more information.

- If you have a spouse on the date you die, your spouse is automatically entitled to receive your pension funds - even if you name other beneficiaries. Most jurisdictions permit your spouse to waive this entitlement. Waiver forms are available on our website (www.csspen.com). Spousal rights may not apply to additional voluntary contributions (AVCs).
- If spousal rights are waived or if you do not have a spouse, you can designate other named beneficiaries, or your estate. If you do not name any beneficiaries, pension legislation provides that your pension funds must be paid to your estate.
- If you are separated when you die, your separated spouse may still have first claim to your pension funds. Contact us or your lawyer for assistance with complex situations.

Common accident

If you and your spouse were to die at the same time in a common accident, or in circumstances rendering it uncertain which of you predeceased the other, your pension funds would be paid to:

- any named general beneficiary(ies), or;
- your estate if no general beneficiary(ies) is named.

Minors

If you choose to designate any minor children,* we suggest you name an adult trustee in Section C of the Designation of Beneficiary form. Otherwise, any pension funds left to minors will be payable to provincial authorities to be invested and administered on their behalf until they become adults.

A minor is a person under the age of majority in each province/territory.*

Keeping your designation current

It is your responsibility to keep your designation up-to-date so that it reflects your current situation at all times. Life events, such as changes in your marital or family status, may indicate a need to update your designation.

To designate, change or revoke a beneficiary designation, complete the attached Designation of Beneficiary form. The most recent designation received by the CSS Pension Plan by date of payment will be effective.

Taxation

The Plan does not provide tax advice. You should consult your professional advisors to determine the tax consequences of your designation.

Definitions of “spouse”

The definition of “spouse” varies by jurisdiction, as summarized below, and is subject to change. Where this summary conflicts with the provisions of applicable pension legislation, the provisions in applicable pension legislation will govern.

SPOUSAL RIGHTS TO PENSION FUNDS

By law, if you die before converting your pension funds into a retirement income and you have a spouse (married or common law), she/he is automatically entitled to receive your pension funds. If you wish to designate a beneficiary(ies) who will inherit your pension funds if your spouse predeceases you or in the event of a common accident, complete Section B.

If you do not have a spouse OR if spousal entitlement has been waived:

- You can name any person(s) or organization(s) as your beneficiary(ies), or your estate, by completing Section B.
If you do not name any beneficiaries, your pension funds will be paid to your estate.

SECTION A - DESIGNATION OF SPOUSE AS SOLE BENEFICIARY
